Professional Summary

Developing and marketing for over a decade, I bring a rare ability to build and strategise — bridging technical execution with a deep understanding of what drives customer value. Expertise includes front-end engineering, CRM platforms, email marketing, AI integration, and orchestrating automation workflows (customer segmentation, high-stake campaign development, execution and reporting). An expert in Web Design, UX/UI, Digital Marketing, and Content Design. After leading agile development and delivering high-performance campaigns across major organisations and agencies, this is consistently true: “Seek first to understand. Start with the 'why' behind every business goal, every data point, and every person the product is designed to serve.”
